Continued Making of Unessentials Is War Dept.'s Worry

Manufacture of Jewelry, Artificial Flowers, Cosmetics Hit

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, March 18—The wartime worries of taxation and manpower found the treasury displaying no concern today over the less-than-last-year's revenue from income taxes, but a war department official found cause for alarm in what he called continued manufacture of unnecessary items.

Income tax receipts for the first 16 days of March were shown as $1,382,358,354 compared with $1,391,371,310 in the same period of 1942.

However, returns for this March 16 were more than double the previous day's, the deadline for filing returns, and Secretary Morgan then told a press conference the treasury had "every reason to be satisfied." He said one reason the dollar volume is running lower this year is that many people are paying their new, higher taxes by quarters rather than in full.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, urging adoption of a law to draft men and women for work in war industries, told the senate military committee that despite the need of these industries for labor, thousands of people still are turning out such things as artificial flowers, jewelry, toys and cosmetics.

Fight Far From Won

The country is in "a fight for existence which is far from being won," he said, adding: "I firmly believe that not until there is imposed on every man and woman the equal obligation to render service in the war effort, will this country make the all-out war effort which is necessary."

The related problem of absenteeism in war plants was before the house labor committee which heard a statement in which President R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) argued that attempts to punish individual absences would serve only to develop resentment and "endanger labor morale." The thing to do, he said, is to eliminate causes for absenteeism.

Other developments of the day included:

Democratic Leaders in Assembly Favor Sales Tax Refunds

Administration Support of Proposed Law Is Not Anticipated

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—Democratic floor leaders in the house and senate predicted today that most of the minority members of the legislature would support lending legislation to refund 25 per cent of state sales tax collections to the counties as an offset against local property tax.

House Democrats discussed the rebate bill in a closed caucus late yesterday without taking any collective stand on it, Rep. William Vicars of Pontiac, the minority leader, said sentiment among the Democratic legislators was "overwhelmingly" in favor of the bill. The senate Democratic lead-

OPA Cuts Eastern Gasoline Rations

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Starting Monday, eastern motorists can drive for fun again, as far as their gasoline will take them—but for the luckless "A" bookholders, at least, that won't be very far.

And what gas they get may cost them more.

Dealer pleas for price increases, driver pleas for more coupons and official pleas for revival of car-sharing plans chorused today in the wake of yesterday's order cutting the "A" bookholders' weekly ration roughly from about

Publications of Names and Pictures of Selectees Called Up Is Forbidden

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—A ban has been placed on publication of names of selective service registrants until after they are inducted into the Army, Illinois draft officials have announced.

Formerly newspapers were authorized to publish names of draft registrants when they were ordered to report for induction.

The change in regulations was "necessary because of the large number of complaints about extreme embarrassment to men rejected after their names had been announced to the public as going into service," Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, said.

Armstrong said local boards may furnish for publication lists of registrants who have been inducted, as well as the home address and the branch of service of each registrant inducted.

The new regulation, received by Armstrong from national selective service headquarters in Washington, stated:

"Information concerning the names or the total number of men forwarded to the induction station on any call or during any period of time shall not be examined by or disclosed or furnished to anyone except when required in the administration of the selective service system."

State selective service headquarters interpreted the regulations as banning publication of group photographs of selectees about to be inducted, even though no names were used.

Armstrong said local boards may furnish for publication lists of registrants who have been inducted, as well as the home address and the branch of service of each registrant inducted.

Sub-Convoy Battles Indicate Mass Nazi U-Boat Drive Is On

Furious Clashes Are Re- ported From Both Sides of Atlantic

Washington, March 18.—(AP)—Running battles between submarine packs and convoy ships indicated today that Germany has launched her expected mass U-boat campaign against allied shipping in the North Atlantic.

From both sides of the ocean came reports of furious clashes with these results:

1. At least three U-boats were sunk and many others probably damaged by allied escort vessels and the RAF during a 72-hour battle last month. The British admiralty's announcement, made in London, said the convoy "did not escape without loss, but gave no details in this connection.

2. The Coast Guard cutter Campbell rammed, shelled and sank one big enemy submarine and depth-bombed five others in a furious fight with an undersea wolf pack about three weeks ago. The Navy said the Campbell was damaged but she reached port with the aid of other vessels.

Dramatic Account

The Campbell's feat was the most dramatic account of anti-submarine warfare yet released by the Navy.

The 2,000-ton Campbell drove four submarines below the surface by running full tilt at them and helped a corvette engage another U-boat, with inconclusive results, before she sighted her sixth target.

"Steering a collision course for the nazi sub," the Navy related, "the cutter bore down upon it and continued on its path until the U-boat was so close that the Campbell's gun fire had to be discontinued. The enemy sub was dealt a glancing blow by the cutter."

"As the sub drifted free of the cutter following the collision, the cutter's guns resumed firing, and got off several rounds at point-blank range. The Campbell's officers could see the sub shudder from the impact of the exploding shells."

They then watched the big submarine slowly settle and sink stern first.

Commander James A. Hirshfeld, 40, of San Antonio, Tex., was the only man aboard the cutter who was wounded. He was hit by a piece of flying metal but continued to direct his ship.

The collision left the cutter with a 12-foot rip in her side below the water line but she was towed to an east coast port for repairs.

House Democrats discussed the rebate bill in a closed caucus late yesterday without taking any collective stand on it, Rep. William Vicars of Pontiac, the minority leader, said sentiment among the Democratic legislators was "overwhelmingly" in favor of the bill. The Senate Democratic lead-

Full Picture of Tax Returns Will Not Be Known for Some Time

Washington, March 18—(AP)—The treasury reported today that income tax receipts recorded on March 16 were more than double the amount reported on Monday, the deadline for filing income tax returns.

The daily statement for March 16, issued today, showed income tax receipts of $514,606,492. On the previous day receipts totaled $246,850,735.

Tuesday's receipts were greater than those for the comparable day last year (March 17) when income tax collections of $422,371,235 less than those reported on the same day last year.

The sharp upturn in receipts reported in the daily statement for Tuesday bore out treasury predictions that the full picture of income tax collections on March 15 would not be available for many days, because of the task involved in opening an estimated 45,000,000 return and recording the payments.

Such membership, however, together with other facts may have definite bearing upon the relief sought by the government.

Packers Believed Not in Accord With Scheme
for Producer Ceilings

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Indications that packers are not in complete agreement on proposal to place ceilings on producer prices of live hogs as a means to aid in stabilizing meat prices arose today at hearings on the subject.

The Office of Price Administration, which yesterday heard producer representatives voice opposition to ceilings, invited packers to appear today to give their views.

The American Meat Institute, an organization representing many of the larger packers, failed to send representatives—a fact that led John Finn, of the OPA legal staff, to remark that "the industry does not appear to be in agreement on ceilings."

For the 24 hours ending at 6:00 p.m. (Central War Time Wednesday—maximum temperature 33, minimum 20; part cloudy).

Friday: sun rises at 7:07 (CWT), sets at 7:09.

Unusual

Washington, March 18—(AP)—For the first time in six months the public debt altered its upward climb today and dropped back a few rungs.

The treasury daily statement for March 16, issued today, reported the debt on that date was $120,442,611,206.03, which was $208,037,755.03 less than the total debt on the previous day.

Treasury officials attributed the decline largely to redemption of tax notes and other treasury obligations.

The last time they recalled that the daily debt report showed a decline was on Sept. 11.

Japs' U-Boat Base at Kiska Is Bombed Again on Tuesday

Washington, March 18—(AP)—American bombers blasted the Japanese submarine base at Kiska island, in the Aleutians, three times Tuesday, the Navy reported today, and in a fourth action American fighter planes shot down two enemy aircraft and probably destroyed two others.

Tuesday was the second successive day of multiple raids on Kiska, six heavy attacks having been previously reported for Monday.

The Tuesday raids on Kiska apparently were not so heavy as those made on Monday since the Navy in its latest communiqué did not specifically use the word "heavy" to describe the actions.

It was apparent, however, that they were carried out in considerable force.

Site of Jap U-Base

The Japanese have had a submarine base at Kiska for several months. From it their underwater craft can operate eastward against American supply ships to such bases as those at Dutch Harbor and in the Andreanoff islands and may even strike at shipping along the Canadian and northwestern American coast.

As far as could be learned here, the enemy base is primarily a center for refueling, supply and light repairs. It apparently does not have heavy concrete pens of the kind the Germans have constructed along the northern European coast to protect their bases against allied air attack.

Direct hits on the sub facilities at Kiska therefore presumably would result in considerable damage to the enemy's facilities.

The latest three raids reported against the Japanese Aleutian base raised to 17 the total number of air attacks there this month, whereas only nine bombing forays were made against it in February.

Citizenships of Ten Bundists Cancelled

New York, March 18—(AP)—Federal Judge John Bright today cancelled the citizenship of Fritz Kuhn, former national leader of the German-American Bund, and ten other former members.

Nine other former Bundists, of 20 recently tried in denaturalization proceedings, were permitted to retain their American citizenship under Judge Bright's decision that he denounced the German-American Bund as an un-American organization.

The great majority of more than 5,000 fugitives were said to be holding out despite the capture of small bands forced out of their fastnesses by hunger.

One trainload of captured and surrendered youths was reported to have left Annecy for Germany, but the number was not disclosed.

Planes over the Savoie regions during the last two nights were believed to be allied craft attempting to drop provisions and weapons.

An Algiers radio broadcast yesterday warned that "punishment and just revenge" would be meted out to French mobile guards who fired on the Savoie insurgents.

Three-Fold

McGregor, Ia., March 18—(AP)—"Give and you shall receive".

That's what 11-year-old Jack Bachelder did and his unexpected return was threefold.

A month ago Jack mailed his Scout knife to a group seeking knives with four-inch blades for soldiers in the South Pacific. He forgot about it; went about his sixth grade studies and fun.

But the story of Jack's gift reached the nation through the newspapers. He has received three Scout knives, almost exact duplicates of the one he gave to the Army, letters from admirers from Boston to Denver and newspaper clippings from many states.

The German radio reported that in addition to the four-division assault on the northern sector, strong British reinforcements were pouring around the Nazi right flank in the vicinity of Ksar Rhilane, 45 miles behind the southern anchor of the Mareth fortifications.

"It is presumed that this group has been ordered to operate against the deep flank of the Mareth Line simultaneously with a frontal attack," the broadcast said.

DETAINED REPORT By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 18—(AP)—United States troops led by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, newly named commander on the Tunisian front, have recaptured Gafsa after a 30-mile drive and pressed on beyond that rail city and air base toward the Gabes bottleneck, it was announced today.

Only a few hours were required for reoccupation of the town which had been abandoned by allied troops in the face of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's abortive mid-February offensive.

A communiqué said that little opposition was encountered and U. S. patrols, assisted by mobile French units and guarded by al-

PRICES SLASHED
Nationally Advertised Merchandise

Everything Must be Sold to the Bare Walls!

Everything must be sold to the bare walls. Yes, that's true. We must sacrifice hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise. Our store must be cleaned out to the bare walls. The fixtures will be stored for the duration of the war. Much of this merchandise cannot be bought on today's market. We have many shipments of new spring merchandise that are going at clearance prices. The reason for this sale and the only reason for closing out is the fact that within the near future, one of us, perhaps both of us, will be subject to call in Uncle Sam's Armed Forces.

We also would like to state here that both of us have greatly appreciated your fine patronage and cooperation. We are truly thankful to our many friends and customers. We feel that we were substantially rewarded for all our efforts and you may be assured that it is our hope and our future plan to enter into the clothing business again when things are settled "over there."

A Thought for Today

The crown is fallen from our head:
Woe unto us, that we have sinned!—Lamentation 5:16.

Sin let loose speaks punishment at hand.—Cowper.

Awfully Naive

John P. Frey, president of the A. F. of L. Metal Trades Council, thinks that William L. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, "must have been awfully naive" to trust the C. I. O. when that agreement against jurisdictional disputes was arranged last December.

Perhaps he was. Or he may just have been outsmarted in a battle of wits. The public, at least, was "awfully naive" when it believed that the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. were going to waive selfish interests to advance the war effort.

We, the public, were so anxious to believe in the good will of President Murray of the C. I. O., Hutcheson, and their associates in the anti-jurisdictional strike parley, that we took their assurances hook, line and sinker.

Now we learn from Peter Edson, NEA Washington correspondent, that we were being played for suckers.

The two organizations adopted a publicized agreement to arbitrate all jurisdictional questions and then added secret clause, which even their own ranking associates were not told about, which said in effect:

"Nothing in this agreement shall mean anything to either party. But isn't it a pretty gesture?"

As Mr. Edson points out, the C. I. O. reserved its legal right under the Wagner Act to organize A. F. of L. contract plants and demand elections to toss the A. F. of L. out on its ear.

Mr. Hutcheson is no fool, but a keen man. The same is true of his A. F. of L. co-negotiators, President Dan Tobin of the Teamsters and President Harry C. Bates of the Bricklayers.

They must have known that Murray and President R. J. Thomas of the C. I. O. Automobile Workers and President Julius Emspeck of the C. I. O. Electrical Workers would use the legal rights they reserved. But they thought that the A. F. of L. could similarly cut into C. I. O. territory and the Devil take the hindmost. They forgot that the C. I. O. has more to gain from raiding, and less to lose, than the A. F. of L.

Meanwhile the public, which wants nothing except to win this war before the world becomes bankrupt both of money and of virile manhood, was left holding the bag and singing the praises of unionists who had betrayed us.

Roosevelt Boys

Republicans joined Democrats in applauding Lieut.-Col. Elliott Roosevelt's protest against congressional attacks upon the war records of the President's four sons. That is as it should be.

The Roosevelt boys got their commissions easier than other young men who have no powerful associations. They have advanced fast. But the time for criticizing that has long since passed. So far as can be learned they have made excellent fighting men, and have not been spared any of the rigors of war because of their identities. It may well be that they have been pushed around a bit extra.

Let's lay off the young Roosevelts, as soldiers. When they doff their uniforms, we can put them back on the civilian pan if we choose. But this is not time for petty politics, partisan or otherwise.

They Need a Law

It now appears that the British need a law forbidding the Speaker of Commons to die in office. Otherwise, they will have to make provision for extraordinary care of their speakers, to avoid repetition of the quandary in which they now find themselves. They can't meet without a speaker, and they can't choose a speaker without meeting.

They can't even pass a law providing for the succession until they meet, or meet until they have such a law.

Perhaps in the end they will just meet and elect a speaker and then, being legally in session, validate what was done illegally.

Cry Baby, Too Late

It is pretty late now for the Nazis to realize the ghastliness of bombing civilian communities. They should have thought of that before their raids on Coventry, London, Plymouth, Rotterdam and other allied cities.

Technically the Germans are suggesting that "open cities" be spared. What are open cities? Those in which no single factory is engaged in war work; where there are no soldiers, no anti-aircraft defenses, no enemies of Nazism? History would suggest that in Berlin's eyes any axis city is "open" and should be spared; any allied city is military and should be devastated.

The Nazis can dish it out, but they hate to take it.

Popular Red Tape

The Federal Budget Bureau is planning to throw yards of red tape about Washington's favorite pastime, the promulgation of questionnaires.

The public is advised hereafter to ignore such pestiferous queries as do not bear the imprimatur of the budget.

This is one administrative order and one use of bureaucratic red tape which will arouse no protest. It will save money, manpower and the time of hard-pressed executives. It may even help to save that institution beloved of every politician, the American home, which has survived sometimes with difficulty the raw nerves brought home every night by harassed business men.

The Russian people doubtless now are giving Ambassador Standley good measure—a million thanks for thousands of tanks.

GREETERS

CHAPTER XVI
"YOU mean, Ed, that we've got to fly west again? To catch up with Jimmy?"

"Yes'm. That's what he said. And it's not any forgery this time."

"But—but why? Why does he want me?"

Ed Bryan, airplane pilot, shook his head. "You know as much as I do, Miss Pat. He just telephoned me this morning and said I was to take you and catch up with him. Later I got verified orders from Colonel Furedy himself, so it ain't no monkey business."

"No. But my stars, whatever can Jimmy want? Let me get my coat, Ed."

Just that quick she was ready. Ed Bryan had telephoned her out of a sound sleep and she was dressed when he came for her at 7 a.m. She hadn't eaten breakfast, but she was ready to fly. You don't question orders in the Army, you obey them, Pat told herself.

They snatched coffee and a bite of food before taking off, and Ed had some food in the plane for her, too.

"This is no short hop," he explained. "We'll have to refuel along the way, but mostly we're going to be flying. We're to catch him at Phoenix."

"But what about the Kansas stops? And Denver, Colo.?"

"Route's been changed, the colonel said. They cut out all but Phoenix. On account of Phoenix is having a big soaring carnival or something, honoring Captain Carr."

"Now that's nice!"

"Sure! But why you and me have to be there, I don't know."

"Jimmy didn't specify a thing? What we were to do?"

"No ma'am. He said to tuck you in a plane and catch up with him at the earliest possible stop. That's all he did say."

They took off without fanfare and roared away to the west. Backed by Colonel Furedy, Ed had clearance at all the fields en route. And the flying today was exceptionally smooth.

To help pass the time for her, Ed taught Pat a lot of things through their head phones. You can always learn more flying low from a pilot in the air than you can from the books on flying, and she had heard Jimmy say, and she was a fascinated pupil. Later, though, she interrupted Ed.

"Ed, tell me, would you marry an aviator? A girl who was crazy about soaring and flying and all?"

The big drawly southerner eyed her in surprise.

"I'd marry a Fiji islander if I figured she belonged to me."

"Oh! Ed!" she laughed at him. Ed Bryan was a good friend to have.

It turned out that he knew a lot about the middle west, and he told her things without emphasizing her own ignorance.

"This is my first trip west of Chicago," she confessed.

"I hear tell there's a lot of land beyond the Mississippi. We'll be seeing. How come you asked who I'd marry?"

"I—I don't know."

"My girl don't fly. She runs a beauty shop. We're putting war bonds in the old sock, against the time."

"Ed! How nice!"

"Yes'm... What did you mean, marry a girl crazy about soaring and flying? You meant if I was Captain Carr, didn't you?"

"Why, Ed Bryan! I said no such thing!"

He was chuckling, and she could hear that, too, over their head set.

"The captain is the smartest man I know," Ed went on, "but why he chose the dame he picked must be a military secret."

"Hush, Ed."

The day was long, and it was good to break it this way with friendly conversation. Pat was able to sleep for about two hours. It made her feel grand again. West of Oklahoma City she was fascinated by the changing landscape. Here, Ed informed her, the wild west began. And it looked wild, too; cities became scarce, plains barren. Then after a while mountains of amazing color and contour arose dramatically before them.

"We're seeing the Rockies," Ed said.

"Oh-h-h! Ed, they're so different. Rugged and—and everything!" Her description was inadequate, but her enthusiasm was correct; more scholarly folk than Pat Friday have lacked words to describe the Rocky Mountains.

Over New Mexico they approached a storm that was first sand, then rain and hail. It acted afraid of them and shied off away. They refueled at Santa Fe, and Pat got some travel folders telling about the southwest.

"Ed, what are..."

"Hush!" he murmured in her ear. "Don't talk. Stay with these first greeters, and do exactly as I say!"

Fair Enough

by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

Kansas City—Well, what shall we take up next in the story of Harold Franklin, the engineer of the gravy train? He is the son of the president of the Boilermakers Union and agent in the group-insurance deal which yields him commissions up to 15 per cent in various types of coverages on the members and their families, most of it compulsory.

Shall we try to reckon how much the son of the union president is getting out of the compulsory insurance that is shoved onto the faceless suckers in the hiring halls of the shipyards as a condition of their employment? Or shall we prove that they lie at the union headquarters in Kansas City, Kan., when they say the kid is not getting and never did get a rakeoff on the premises?

I guess we will do a little speculating on the rakeoff to Harold Franklin, the old man's son. These union families, by the way, are building up quite an aristocracy. This Franklin does very well. John Lewis' daughter and his brother, Denny, are "way up in the chips" in the union engineering business; the son of old Bill Hutcheson, the president of the carpenters, is vice president under him and next in line if anything happens to the father; and, in Washington, John Moreschi, the son of old Joe, the president of the great shake-down called the Common Laborers' Union, has been taken care of with a nice job around the national headquarters of the shake. There are others, but these will give you a rough idea.

Assuming that the Boilermakers union now has 200,000 members, which is not an extravagant figure, although the actual number is not publicly known, the premiums at $15 a year would amount to $3,000,000. For this the workers on the war jobs in the shipyards and other plants get death guarantees of from $333.33 to $1000. Most of them just now are covered for less than $1000 because they have been members less than two years. They also are covered from $666 to $2000 in case of death by occupational accident and for $500 to $800 for partial disability. There may not be many such disabilities.

On new policies young Franklin and his partner, Jerome Koehler, also of Kansas City, Kan., get a commission of 6 per cent of the $15 annual premium. On the premiums on all members of more than one year's standing their commission is 4 per cent. Franklin gets two-thirds and Koehler one-third of the gravy from the 6 per cent premiums and the 4 per cent commissions they split 50-50. But we don't know how much of the business is new and how much is renewal. If we assumed that it is all renewal business, paying them 4 per cent, they get $120,000, or $60,000 each. But we know a lot of it is new business, so we freeze Koehler at $60,000 and speculate on young Franklin's average. Would you be willing to say that the son of the union's president gets an additional $15,000 a year by way of the extra 2 per cent and settle for $75,000 as his share of labor's gains under the new deal in the war?

All right, but that is not all. As they came to Superstition Mountain they encountered a wind blow once more. It was a black, maverick-like storm, which snorted and tossed the plane but was too small to do harm, a thing characteristic of the Rockies. All the terrain and natural phenomena here were fascinating, Pat found.

They were to arrive at Phoenix just before sundown. Only a very fast Army ship could have made it that quickly, but Ed and Pat had been favored by good weather most of the way. Ed contacted Phoenix Sky Harbor with his radio.

"We're ahead of the captain," he called to Pat, then. "They're just coming down from Denver, but we'll land half an hour before they do!"

"Oh, Ed!"

Pat was nervous. Jittery. She couldn't say why, except that Jimmy had specified nothing in ordering her west again, and she was afraid there might be further embarrassment or trouble.

Nearly 10,000 people had gathered at Sky Harbor to welcome the soaring plane, and so Ed wasn't quite sure what to do with himself and Pat after they landed. They just clung near the main hangars on the east side of the field. And then the sailplane came into view.

"He'll come right in because it's getting night and he won't want to disappoint the people," Ed told Pat.

Jimmy's tow ship landed unobtrusively, but as the sailplane glided beautifully down, a great cheering arose. A special detail of soldiers held back the people, but Pat and Ed were inside this.

I am sure I don't know and young Mr. Franklin won't tell. In fact, he even denies that he is mixed up in the business at all or ever got a dollar out of this or any other policy of his father's union and so does William E. Walter, the secretary-treasurer. And old man Franklin won't talk. But I think I can find out and if I do I will be sure to tell you how well the boy is doing, what with the war and the big shipbuilding program, and compulsory unionism all paid for out of your taxes.

Tonight I am going to take the denials of young Mr. Franklin and Mr. Walter and shove them down their throats.

Furthermore, business women and working girls have given up leisure time in the evening for training, and are on duty in the wards during week ends and holidays.

Dixon women and girls, between the ages of 18 and 50, are being offered an opportunity to serve their country by enrolling at Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital for the Volunteer Nurse's Aide corps. Enrollment hours are scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday afternoon and evening.

SALE OF FINE FURS

We don't usually advocate buying next winter's furs in Spring. But times are different. ## Democratic Leaders er, Senator Richard J. Daley of Chicago, echoed "Vicks' view that the measure would receive minority backing.

Introduced in the house under the sponsorship of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, the refund bill has been received coolly by Republican administration spokesmen. Rep. Reed F. Cutler of Lewistown, the majority leader, has said he does not expect the bill to receive administration support.

While sponsors of the debate plan said it would reduce property taxes from four to 20 per cent in every county of the state, some Democratic legislators in the caucus yesterday were reported to have argued that it would principally benefit property owners, without benefitting sales tax payers who own no real estate.

To Sound Out Sentiment

The caucus decided to defer a party stand on the bill until the Democratic representatives had further opportunity to sound out local sentiment in their districts.

The house executive committee approved for adoption a joint resolution which would create a 14-member committee of the two houses to lay plans for payment of a state bonus to Illinois service men immediately after the war. The committee would submit its report to this general assembly.

Meeting jointly, the house and senate oil conservation committees approved a resolution requesting congress to take steps to raise the ceiling price of crude oil to stimulate Illinois production. Action on the resolution, suggested by Texas and Oklahoma legislators, was postponed for a week by the senate.

Meantime, the office of the senate secretary prepared to forward to the legislatures of all the 48 states copies of the Seearcy resolution urging a constitutional amendment to limit the tenure of presidents of the United States to two terms. The resolution was given final house approval yesterday, 82 to 55. It invites other states to similarly petition congress for a constitutional convention.

Labor Against IRM Bill

A controversy over the Woodward bill which would set up legal safeguards for members of the Illinois Reserve Militia developed today, and the house military affairs committee deferred action on it for two weeks.

Brig. Gen. Frank L. Taylor, Assistant Adjutant General, declared the bill merely would extend to the militia the same protection formerly granted by the state military code to the National Guard, Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, Chicago, former commanding officer of the militia, also appeared in support of the bill sponsored by Rep. Robert M. Woodward (R-Chicago).

R. G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, opposed the bill which he said would "create a state army in the service of the governor, under a special oath of allegiance, ignoring the United States".

One section of the proposed act would make liable for the death or would free militiamen from personal liability for acts of suppression of riots or other unlawful public assemblies.

Novikoff, Cubs' Star, Is Reported Holdout

Long Beach, Calif., March 18.—(AP)—The Press-Telegram reports that Lou Novikoff, Chicago Cub outfielder, is holding out and may remain on his defense job this season.

Lou, the paper says, has returned a contract calling for $6,500 for the season, and countered with a demand for $10,000. The $6,500 was said to represent a $500 raise for his stipend last season.

In his first full season with the Cubs, Novikoff batted .300 last year. He is 3-A in the draft.

Carrying over interest from yesterday's announcements were such varied items as submarine warfare in the Atlantic and restricted driving on A-book gasoline coupons in the eastern United States.

Meanwhile, the office of the senate secretary prepared to forward to the legislatures of all the 48 states copies of the Seearcy resolution urging a constitutional amendment to limit the tenure of presidents of the United States to two terms. The resolution was given final house approval yesterday, 82 to 55. It invites other states to similarly petition congress for a constitutional convention.

To Soothe Labor

As a senate-approved bill deferring essential farm workers from bearing arms went to the house, the Mareth Line isn't surprising, since it is so strong that it would be logical for him to try a flanking movement. The terrain is such, however, that even a flank attack presents great difficulties.

Here we have all the elements of a fierce and dramatic final duel between two of the outstanding personalities of the war. Montgomery and Rommel both rank among the greatest tacticians of their time. I dare say that not a little of their tactical success has been due to the fact that both of them direct battle operations from the scene of the engagement rather than from headquarters in the rear. This enables them to make quick changes in tactics if necessary.

Await Crop Report

Some observers looked to the federal crop reporting board's estimate tomorrow of the prospective 1943 acreages for an idea of just how serious the food production problem is—and how much more civilians may have to reduce their consumption.

Marshal Rommel is the only German in this war for whom I have heard allied officers express admiration both as a soldier and a good sport. Montgomery admires his favorite enemy, for the outspoken British commander told me not long ago that he regarded Rommel as a great soldier. You can bet that Rommel reciprocates this feeling.

However, while there is this mutual respect, each knows that the other is out for blood. Both are as hard as nails, and ruthless in striving for annihilation.

They recognize that the only way to win decisive victories is to kill men on the battlefield.

The Mareth Line is a fitting stage setting for this great showdown, though it gives Rommel a temporary advantage because of its strength. They call it the "Maginot Line of the Desert", because it is built of reinforced concrete on the same principle as the Maginot Line in France.

The name "Maginot" may not be much of a recommendation in view of what happened to the line in France. However, it should be noted that the Germans beat the French fortifications, not by frontal assault but by a flanking operation.

lied aerial squadrons, drove after the retreating Germans into the area of El Guettar, 12 miles to the southeast.

Gafsa lies 85 miles northwest of Gabes, a major supply port for Marshal Rommel's forces in the Mareth Line zone, and restores the allied threat to his rear.

The appointment of General Patton, 57-year-old tank specialist, to succeed Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Freedland as U.S. commander became known at the front only yesterday and was formally announced today.

No Comment on Attack

There was no official comment on German radio reports that the Eighth Army had launched an offensive.

Under the protecting cover of American Mitchells, Spitfires and Airacobras, American troops entered Gafsa at 12:30 p.m. yesterday. Immediately after occupying the city, General Patton's troops pushed southeastward some six miles to the Djebel Rehardiz and the village of Lalla and continued on toward El Guettar. Airmen wrought heavy damage on the retreating German columns.

The advance placed one of the most offensive-minded generals in the United States Army and revenge-seeking American troops and armored units which were described here as "a strong force" less than 65 miles from the eastern tip of the vast salt marshes that channel Rommel's communications along the coastal plains.

Road demolitions and elaborate mine fields slowed the pursuers. Field dispatches disclosed that the first U.S. Infantry division was in action on this front. Simultaneously came official word that the First Armored division and the 34th Infantry division were also operating in the area, although they did not take part in the recapture of Gafsa.

They'll Do It Every Time

Washington
By Peter Edson
Telegraph Special Service

With food rated as one of the principal weapons of war, a wholesale conversion of industries to food processing and production is now in progress. Many of the firms going into this new business had no connection with the food industry before. Yet so important is this nation-wide conversion to food processing that it is today proving to be the salvation of many small business firms that might otherwise go to the wall.

When the war production effort first got going, all manner of manufacturers got into new lines of business. Soapmakers took contracts to make munitions, pop bottlers went into shell loading and rubber companies took contracts to make airplanes. The food industry conversions have been no less spectacular.

A Columbus, Ohio, brick and tile maker with extensive funnel drying equipment has gone into the production of dehydrated potatoes, and this conversion may be the start of a new trend in the industry. There are over 200 tile makers in the United States and if the dehydrated food industry grows as many people believe it will, you may be eating many post-war kitchen concoctions that were nine-tenths prepared by the company that baked the tile for your bathroom.

Ingenious Conversions
When War Production Board orders stopped the production of canned dog food because of the shortage of tin plate, this industry converted almost 100 per cent to the packaging of food for human consumption. The same washers, cookers, filling and closing machines could be used since practically all of this business was done under federal sanitary inspection before, as well as after the conversion.

When the war hiked the demand for vegetable seed, a growers' association in Idaho used its ingenuity to meet the new situation. An old hot-air furnace was rigged up with ducts made of plywood, and this homemade plant was turned to the drying of seed corn. Because of its high moisture content, seed corn will freeze in some colder climates and lose its sprouting ability. Artificial drying prevents freezing and mold, and the makeshift equipment has more than paid for itself in a year.

At Kennett Square, Pa., the mushroom capital of the United States, two big plants have converted to canning tomatoes.

In Massachusetts, cranberry canneries have shifted to the dehydrating of cranberries, the first order for 55,000 of dried, hydroscopic cranberries for the Army being enough to make 1,450,000 pounds of cranberry sauce.

A Chicago popcorn-candy manufacturer now packages dried eggs, in practically the same sized box.

Sauerkraut canneries at Fremont, Ohio, Mt. Airy, N. C., and Ontario, N. Y., now make dehydrated cabbage instead.

More than 85 per cent of the vegetable dehydration plants are former canning factories, but the possibilities for further conversions are still unlimited.

Applejack distilleries are being eyed for conversion to the manufacture of pectin, the stuff that makes jellies jell. And according to the Food Distribution Administration of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, there is still a demand for capacity to handle the dehydration of carrots and beets.

Mushroom Growth for Industry

This whole business has grown almost from scratch to a total annual production of over 200 million pounds a year, since the start of the war. There were a few vegetable driers in business during the last war, but after the war their business fell off to nothing. They kept on experimenting, however, and though their products during the intervening 20 years met with pretty complete consumer indifference, they were ready with improved processes when the shipping shortages of the present war created a tremendous demand for everything they could turn out.

One big advantage of the new industry is that it permits year-round operation of the plant, instead of a mere short season operation common in most can-

Do All Kinds of Jobs

Members of the WAACs do all kinds of jobs—everything a soldier is asked to do except fight. They may become aircraft spotters, camera technicians, chauffeurs, motor dispatchers, musicians, photographers, radio operators, weather observers and countless service workers. WAACs spent Sunday and Monday in Chicago.

enrollees are not chosen on the basis of formal education. A high school diploma is not necessary. Every applicant is given a simple mental alertness test. All applicants accepted by the WAACs must be in sound physical health and possess good vision and hearing. Many WAACs are needed for officers' candidate school, and all officers are chosen from the ranks, so that each member has an equal chance for promotion.

The mental alertness tests will be given in Dixon during the week of the recruiting campaign. Physical examinations will be given in Chicago, with expenses paid to and from and while in Chicago.

Exceptional Opportunity

The WAAC is a corps of women in military uniform and under military discipline, organized for noncombatant service with the Army. It is the only women's organization, exclusive of the Army Nurse Corps, authorized to serve with the Army. It offers women, regardless of race, color or creed, an exceptional opportunity for service. The WAAC is one way for the valiant spirit of American women to meet the challenge of total war with the same courageous determination that pioneer women showed.

When civilization—of which the home is the nucleus—is threatened, this becomes a woman's war as well as a man's war. The present enrollment of the WAAC has already outrun the original quota of 25,000. All branches of the service are requesting WAAC services to replace men. Immediate expansion of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to 150,000 care. Pay scale is the same as for men in the Army. Soldiers' wives who join the WAAC continue to receive Army allotments for husbands in service."

Recruiting Drive Will Be Staged; To Start Monday, March 22

Do All Kinds of Jobs

Members of the WAACs do all kinds of jobs—everything a soldier is asked to do except fight. They may become aircraft spotters, camera technicians, chauffeurs, motor dispatchers, musicians, photographers, radio operators, weather observers and countless service workers. WAACs spent Sunday and Monday in Chicago.

enrollees are not chosen on the basis of formal education. A high school diploma is not necessary. Every applicant is given a simple mental alertness test. All applicants accepted by the WAACs must be in sound physical health and possess good vision and hearing. Many WAACs are needed for officers' candidate school, and all officers are chosen from the ranks, so that each member has an equal chance for promotion.

The mental alertness tests will be given in Dixon during the week of the recruiting campaign. Physical examinations will be given in Chicago, with expenses paid to and from and while in Chicago.

Exceptional Opportunity

The WAAC is a corps of women in military uniform and under military discipline, organized for noncombatant service with the Army. It is the only women's organization, exclusive of the Army Nurse Corps, authorized to serve with the Army. It offers women, regardless of race, color or creed, an exceptional opportunity for service. The WAAC is one way for the valiant spirit of American women to meet the challenge of total war with the same courageous determination that pioneer women showed.

When civilization—of which the home is the nucleus—is threatened, this becomes a woman's war as well as a man's war. The present enrollment of the WAAC has already outrun the original quota of 25,000. All branches of the service are requesting WAAC services to replace men. Immediate expansion of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to 150,000

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH

V-Home Campaign in Dixon in Last Week; 100 Pct. Is Desired*Project Is Established for Safety of Home Owner and Family

With a goal of "Dixon, a 100% V Home town", the Victory Home campaign of the Office of Civilian Defense is now in its second and last week as Intermediate Girl Scouts wind up a house-to-house canvass of the city.

Mayor William Slothower, chairman of the local Civilian Defense Council, said yesterday: "We hope that every citizen of Dixon understands that the V Home campaign is promoted solely for the benefit and protection of the home-owner and his family. It is a nationwide campaign designed for the protection of the American home. Let's make Dixon a one hundred percent V Home town".

Wherever the recognition award of a home sticker has been earned, it should be placed in a prominent place in a front window, as this sticker tells the world that these V Homes in Dixon are in this fight to win the war.

It Is Distinctly OCD Work

The V Home is not a Scout project. The Girl Scouts are acting for the local air raid warden who are engaged in war industry and business and whose hours are such that they cannot perform this duty at this time. The wardens will, however, deliver a bucket of sand to anyone unable to get it for himself, as might be the case with the very aged or disabled.

Vital Requirements

Vital requirements for the V Home award are: First, each home owner and his family must follow the instructions of the air raids warden of his block; second, each home must conserve food, clothing, transportation, and health in order to hasten an increasing flow of essential war materials to war production plants and the fighting fronts; third, each home must salvage materials necessary for war uses; fourth, each home must refuse to spread rumors that might divide our nation or place information in the hands of our military enemies; fifth, each home must buy war stamps and bonds regularly or in proportion to incomes and responsibilities.

"It is hoped", the mayor said, "that each householder will free his attic of inflammables and provide himself with a bucket of sand. We hope we will never be bombed, and we think we won't be, but a person living in the next block can throw an incendiary bomb. We must protect ourselves from possible enemies within our country as well as on fighting fronts".

If any house has been accidentally missed or none of the family found to be home when Girl Scouts have called, blanks and recognition awards may be delivered after this week if the householder will telephone Miss Grace Ritson, Girl Scout Executive Secretary, at 1478, or Mrs. I. B. Hoefer, chairman of the V Home campaign, at M794.

Flashes of Life*SCRAP PAYOFF

Little Rock, Ark.—Governor Homer M. Adkins of Arkansas is preparing to send ten pounds of Arkansas bauxite to Governor Sam H. Jones of Louisiana.

The Arkansas governor wagered the bauxite against ten pounds of Louisiana sulphur plus a quantity of molasses that Arkansas would collect more scrap metal than Louisiana.

Governor Jones reported Louisiana collected 108.6 per cent of its quota; Arkansas, 61.3.

Baltimore—William Braeford, 16, was found tied to a tree in a woods, secured by two belts and ropes so tightly bound it was difficult for him to move.

"Oh, how wonderful! But of course we don't take children".

"You poor girl! I'm so sorry".

BUNNIES BANNED

Des Moines, Ia.—Rabbits found near Victory gardens may be shot on suspicion, if a bill now before the Iowa house goes through.

The measure provides that no hunting license be required to snare, trap or shoot rabbits found in the immediate vicinity of a garden plot". It was explained that victory gardens are needed to supplement food supplies and "rabbits are very harmful there-to".

COME AND GET 'EM
Danville, Ill.—Thrown off a train going at top speed, a mail pouch was cut open and its contents scattered.

Because the pouch contained several hundred tax notices, Vermilion County Treasurer Girth Hicks has asked taxpayers who had not received notices to call at his office to learn their assessment. In this way, he says, they can help conserve scarce paper and the county will be spared the expense of mailing duplicate notices.

The protein content of baked foods made with milk and enriched flour is very good, and when further combined with dried eggs, meat, or nuts, it is the standpoint of good nutrition. Serve plenty of baked foods and breads to supplement the nutritive values of other foods. Remember, white flour, enriched as you government recommends, is plentiful.

So. Chicago Area Is Placed Under New WMC Decree

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—William H. Spencer, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, today urged an orderly shift to the 48-hour week in the Gary-Hammond-South Chicago area to insure a minimum disruption of normal economy.

Approximately 80,000 workers will be affected by the designation of the area as one of critical labor shortage, an order which requires all firms employing eight or more persons to adopt the 48-hour week. Time and one-half must be paid for all hours over 40, which will mean a 30 per cent pay increase for workers now on a 40-hour week, Spencer said.

He appealed to employers whose manpower needs will decrease as working schedules are lengthened, not to discharge workers without first consulting his office so that the WMC can arrange to place released workers in new jobs. If an employer thinks he can operate more efficiently on a 40-hour week, he should ask the commission for a hearing, Spencer said.

Most Gary industries, employing 38,000 workers, have been on a 44-hour week and some have been working 48 hours, reported Arthur D. Murphy, secretary of the Gary Chamber of Commerce. Officials of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company said 65 per cent of the 21,600 employees of its Gary plant are working 48 hours weekly.

Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, advised manufacturers to continue to solicit new war contracts, despite the city's designation as a group two city.

Industries from new contracts as long as facilities are available elsewhere.

By trying to get new business, Lyons reasoned, manufacturers "can bring to the attention of those concerned the fact that facilities exists there, and that Chicago can add to its output of war goods".

UNION RACKET AT SENeca

(From the Chicago Tribune)

Hennepin, Ill., Feb. 15—Having had 18 years' experience in painting and decorating, I applied last November at the shipyards at Seneca for a job of painting, but as I do not have a union card I could not get a job. They will not let me join the union, as I have not previously had a card for a whole year at one time. I was told that under no consideration could I get a job without a card from my local union. Yesterday I saw the head man of my local, and he told me it would be necessary for me to attend their regular meeting on March 15, one month away, and that I would have to have a card previously for one year and that the fee would be $75.

They have chased me around from place to place till I am almost frantic, and now they try to string me along for another month and in the end tell me, "Nothing doing."

If this isn't a racket, then what is? I think things are coming to a pretty pass when an American citizen born and raised right here in Illinois needs work and wants work, but can't get a job because a bunch of hijackers making a man pay such a high price to get a job at all. The fee isn't the worst part of it. The fact that one cannot get into the union at all without previously having a card for a year is the part that hurts.

I heard the president say one time that there would be no profiteering in this war. However, I did not hear him say there would be no crackpots, hijackers, or racketeers. We have plenty of these. I want a job. I want to buy bonds and do something for my country and live.

WAAC PROMOTIONS

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 17—(AP)—Eighteen WAACs in the African war zone are proud of newly-won promotions and the new duties that go with them.

Frances Garland of Woodstock, Ill., who last month was promoted to private first class, now has been raised to Junior Leader which is equivalent to Corporals.

Check Prices of Black Walnut to Get Full Values

More black walnut is needed for war uses, but unless owners check markets before making sales they may not get a reasonable price for their logs, says J. E. Davis, extension forester of the State Natural History Survey and University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

"Reports have been received that buyers misrepresent themselves to be 'government' buyers have offered walnut owners low prices which are said to be 'ceilings,'" Davis states. "Such men may buy to fill government orders, but the government employs no buyers and there are no ceiling prices on walnut logs."

Walnut trees 18 inches or more in diameter at shoulder height are the best grade trees for market if they are thrifty and have long, clear logs. The smallest logs acceptable on the market are those 12 inches in diameter inside the bark at the small end. Trees 15 inches in diameter will meet this specification up to a 12-foot length.

Logs are usually graded by two-inch classes according to measurements inside the bark at the small end, such as 12 to 14, 14 to 16, etc. Bids should not be considered unless made on the size and quality of the logs, since large, clear ones are worth more than small or defective pieces. Now is a good time to dispose of logs from 15 to 18 inches in diameter which would never make good saw or veneer logs because of poor form or shortness. Smaller, thrifty trees should be left for future production, since they will make good gun stocks.

Prices now quoted in Illinois range from $40 a thousand board feet for the lowest grade to more than $100 for the top. Davis advises selling on the basis of a written contract providing for settlement in full before logs are removed from the owners' property.

For information on the demand and market outlets, walnut owners should get in touch with their county farm adviser or the extension forester.

Rationing News

Windshield stickers issued to persons granted gasoline rationing books and certificates, must necessarily be displayed on the windshields of cars, according to a notice received at the offices of the board today. The A, B and C, as well as other types of stickers handed to applicant when the certificates are granted, are required to be displayed on the windshield of the vehicle. This includes bulk coupon stickers. The order is not a new one having been in effect since gasoline rationing became effective, but is emphasized to correct an impression that it has not been necessary to display the classification letters.

H. M. SHEVANAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at Lincoln Hotel, Sterling, Saturday, only, March 20, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Mr. Shevanan says: "The Zestic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effectively reducing the result. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closing the opening in ten days on the average case, resulting in less lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements. It is absolutely no medicine or medical treatments."

By LOUIS J. KRAMP

Champaign, Ill., March 18—(AP)—High school basketball fans, young and old, took over the University of Illinois campus and gymnasium today to cheer their favorites among the 16 title-bidding teams opening the first round of the three-day state championship tournament.

Eight of the 16 will be eliminated before the first day's colorful spectacle is concluded late tonight. Four quarter-final games, two in the afternoon and two at night, are scheduled tomorrow, and on Saturday the winners of afternoon semi-finals will clash for the main prize at night.

Paris Favorite

The rebuilding Paris team which won 38 straight before losing to Centralia in last year's finale, continued as the favorite in the 1943 event as the first round swung into action, but Moline, West Frankfort and Canton still had the backing of many disinterested observers.

Champaign-Urbana citizens joined with close to 20,000 visitors in keeping the tournament tension at fever-pitch, and Huff gymnasium's capacity of 7,000 was expected to be as severely taxed as the twin-cities' hotels. As usual, tickets are as scarce as the gasoline ration coupons you'd think might cut down this year's attendance.

Coaches and players began arriving yesterday and by last night nearly all of the youthful performers were tucked into bed. But the tournament "bugs" attracted to the climactic finish of Illinois' annual "March Madness" argued long into the night on the merits of their respective favorites.

Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press

Hershey, Pa., March 18.—Johnny Allen, the pitcher the Phils got from Brooklyn in the deal for Rube Melton, is a holdout.

"I haven't heard from him since he returned his contract marked unsatisfactory," Manager Bucky Harry said. "Under the circumstances, I guess he could be classed as a holdout."

Cairo, Ill.—Finding his St. Louis Cardinals lagging toward the end of yesterday's one long workout, Manager Billy Southworth ordered two shorter sessions effective today, broken by a field house luncheon. "It is my belief the players will go more at top speed all the way if they have two short practices instead of one long one," the pilot explained.

Lafayette, Ind.—The Cleveland Indians held a brisk workout in the Purdue University field house yesterday. Russ Peters was at first base, Ray Mack at second, Ken Keltner at third and Lou Boudreau at short. Otto Denning, heir apparent to the first base job left vacant by Les Fleming, missed practice because of a severe cold. There were only three other absences—Jef Heath, a holdout; Roy Cullenberg, whose wife is ill, and Chubby Dean, whose tardiness is unexplained.

Evansville, Ind.—Add signs of the times: Two women are covering the training camp of the Detroit Tigers. They are Miss Hallie Lemmett, a writer, and Miss Julia Neville, a photographer, both representing an Evansville paper. They arrived yesterday in time to see Rookie Joe Hoover belt the camp's first homer.

Bloomington, Ind.—Skipper Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs, who taught Buck Walters of the Cincinnati Reds how to pitch, sent him an entry blank for the high hurdle event at the Chicago track meet next Saturday. Buck, who landed on the cripple list when he tried the hurdles here Monday, filed the blank in a waste basket.

Bear Mountain, N. Y.—Curt Davis has the doubtful honor of being the first major leaguer to break a bone this year. The Brooklyn Dodger pitcher suffered a fractured left thumb when struck by the ball during an infield workout at the West Point field house yesterday. He will be able to continue light drills.

Modern Recipes—By—
MRS. GAYNOR MADOX
NEA Service WriterCream of Tomato Soup
(Serves 4)

Two cups canned or stewed tomatoes, 1 slice onion, minced, 3 tablespoons butter or substitute, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, salt and pepper, paprika.

Cook tomatoes and onion 10 minutes, force through sieve. In another pan melt butter, add flour and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Reheat tomato puree and pour gradually into the milk sauce, stirring briskly all the time. Do not allow to boil. Add seasonings and serve at once.

Pot Roast

1/2 pounds blade or arm bone, chuck or rump

Flour

Lard or drippings

Water

Salt and pepper

8 medium potatoes

6 whole onions

6 whole carrots

Season the meat with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown on all sides in a small amount of the lard or drippings. Add a small amount of water, not more than 1/2 cup, cover closely and cook slowly, allowing about 45 minutes per pound. As the pot-roast cooks, more liquid may be added if needed. An hour before the end of the cooking time add the onions, carrots and potatoes.

Meat and Vegetable Pie

Cut all but one-half cup of the left-over pot-roast into cubes. Dice the left-over potatoes and carrots and slice the onions. Combine the meat, vegetables and 1 cup of canned or cooked peas. Make enough gravy from the drippings to moisten the meat and vegetables. Line a large casserole or individual casseroles with a biscuit crust, allowing some crust for overlapping. Add the meat and vegetables, overlap the crust and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 1 hour. Serve with mushroom sauce.

Mushroom Sauce

One-quarter to 1/2 pound mushrooms, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons melted beef suet, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup bouillon (may be made from cubes), 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Homemakers don't need special tools or mechanical training for this day-by-day care, according to Miss Gladys J. Ward, assistant professor of home management extension. First in importance is the location of the refrigerator. Place it "on the level" and as near to the working area as possible, but in a cool place. Sun shining on it, heat from the radiator or register or even from the range will take toll in electric current.

Manufacturers' directions are the best guide as to cleaning, defrosting and removing ice from trays. While rules in general are similar for all electric refrigerators, every manufacturer makes tests on his own equipment and formulates the rules accordingly.

It is good practice to defrost regularly and before the frost becomes a quarter of an inch thick, Miss Ward said. A heavy coat of frost not only makes freezing take longer but slows down the cooling of foods. Remove the food and shelves and empty the ice cube trays. As soon as the ice is melted, clean the inside of the cabinet thoroughly with warm water in which is dissolved one level tablespoonful of baking soda to one quart of water. Rinse and wipe dry with cloth wrung out of clear water. To help preserve the enamel finish, wipe up any acid food promptly. Give special attention to the rubber gasket or seal around the door. Wipe off any spilled food or grease immediately, for both injure rubber. Wash it with mild soapy water, rinse thoroughly and wipe dry.

Persons requiring "safety shoes" for health protection in special types of work also were authorized to apply to ration boards for certificates permitting purchase without coupons if they have spent their No. 17 shoe ration stamp.

Also freed are sandals with open backs and heels not more than 1/4 inches high.

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Rope-soled and other shoes or sandals, with soles made of non-strategic materials will be free of rationing, effective March 24.

The Office of Price Administration made this and two other technical changes in the shoe rationing program in an order issued today.

Also freed are sandals with open backs and heels not more than 1/4 inches high.

Persons requiring "safety shoes" for health protection in special types of work also were authorized to apply to ration boards for certificates permitting purchase without coupons if they have spent their No. 17 shoe ration stamp.

Blind persons in Great Britain receive government old-age pensions at 40.

Ammonia is said to have at least 2,000 industrial uses, many of them in war work.

Condenser Needs Attention

If the exterior of the refrigerator is porcelain enamel, clean it with mild soapy water. Synthetic enamel surfaces should be cleaned with a wax polish instead of washing. The condenser when placed at the back of the refrigerator calls for attention occasionally, too. Disconnect the refrigerator—don't attempt to touch the condenser otherwise—and clean with a stiff brush or the dusting tool of the vacuum cleaner.

Make conservation your watchword when it comes to electricity. Do not use lower temperatures than necessary, and after quick freezing is done be sure to return the control to normal immediately.

Try to estimate the number of ice cubes needed and freeze only the amount necessary. Plan your routine for removing and replacing foods and use tray whenever possible so that the refrigerator will be open as few times as possible. Time and energy as well as electricity can be saved by using an orderly arrangement for storing foods. Make every inch of space count, but don't stack if it can be avoided. Heavy wrappings, cardboard cartons, tops and waste leaves of vegetables have no place in the refrigerator. Cool only those foods that require it and cool hot foods to room temperature before placing them in the refrigerator.

And as to my patriotic sentiments: If this party will inquire of some of the boys in service and of some of the different service organizations, maybe it would enlighten them to some extent as to my patriotic sentiments the past two years or more, and if they could read some of the letters of thanks we receive from some of the boys and girls in the service they might not have put that article in the paper. Dixon Soldier Sees Daughter, Born Last August, First Time

Lt. Robert Meppen Home From Service in New Caledonia Area

"Japanese prisoners of war passing through New Caledonia, where some are interrogated before proceeding to military prison camps, are pleased to be prisoners and through with fighting".

First Lieut. Robert Meppen, 522 Hennepin avenue, this city, told a Telegraph representative today.

"About 90 per cent of the Jap prisoners speak English, some not so very well, but they appear to be thankful that they are no longer fighting and are generally quite a congenial lot."

Asked if the Jap prisoners for the most part, were not a surly group of individuals, Lieut. Meppen stated that on the contrary, they appeared to be quite happy over their fate as prisoners of war and welcomed the outlook they had no more fighting to face.

Lieut. Meppen was attached to the division headquarters in New Caledonia's largest city for the past 11 months. He was second lieutenant of Co. A, 129th infantry when that group was inducted into service and left Dixon for Camp Forrest, Tenn., two years ago tomorrow and prior to that time he was associated with his father William H. Meppen in the contracting business.

Amusement Limited

Amusement is limited in New Caledonia, he stated, and the movies shown are either French or Army films. Members of the several different military branches stationed there have little time for recreation, however, he added, as the forces are on a seven day active schedule.

About a half dozen men from Dixon and vicinity were stationed at New Caledonia, he said.

Before leaving the United States for foreign service, Lieut. Meppen made application for transfer to the aerial group, but action was not taken upon his request until after he had been ordered to report at New Caledonia. Recently, however, his transfer to the air group was approved and he was ordered to report back to the United States and on April 10 will report in California to begin his training for the aerial branch of the service. Upon his return home, Lieut. Meppen saw for the first time his daughter, Barbara Ann who was born Aug. 19 while he was on duty in the South Pacific.

Enemy Returns

We hadn't been watching gunners loading planes long before the roar of enemy planes sounded overhead again.

This time Flight Lieut. John Watson was in the foxhole first. I landed on top with as heavy a thud as Mueller did the first time. The ground trembled beneath us. First one bomb, then another and another shook the earth.

"Wow!" I shouted, involuntarily. I felt a sharp blow on my hip and a burning sensation. Then I thought:

"Not so bad—only a flesh wound. But Lord! Won't this raid ever end?"

My hip kept burning. It was only a couple of minutes, but it seemed forever. I finally muttered in Watson's ear:

"I guess I've been hit."

Watson began feeling around, scorched his fingers on a sizzling hot fragment of a nazi bomb. I wasn't wounded, just blistered.

Kidnapped Father-in-Law Indictment Says

Indianapolis, March 18—(AP)—A federal grand jury late yesterday indicted Walter L. Moore, 29, of Lawrenceville, Ill., for kidnapping.

The indictment alleged that Moore kidnapped his step-father, Fred Scapps, threatening him with a knife and forcing him to go to Vincennes. Scapps escaped during a fight in which both men were hurt.

The grand jury also returned an indictment against Otis C. Overley, 23, of St. Louis, charging him with driving a stolen automobile from Mokane, Ill., to Parke county, Ind.

Illinois' Senators for Farm Deference

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Illinois' two senators, Republican C. Wayland Brooks and Democrat Scott W. Lucas, voted in favor of the bill directing local selective service boards to defer farmers working substantially full time to produce essential crops. Passed by the senate yesterday the measure now goes to the house.
